Liam Wilson Hood was a bright light and ball of joy. As a sweet, tow-headed toddler, he loved to cuddle, to run, to explore, to experience the world. As he grew, Liam retained these tendencies, growing into a kind, playful, curious, and creative boy who loved the outdoors, was eager to learn and experience new things and was always ready to give or get a hug. Liam also liked to clown around and had an impish side that others found endearing.

Liam lived life with exuberance and curiosity. He excelled at soccer and was an excellent goalie. He was enthusiastic about Nordic skiing, hiking, biking, running, disc golf, shooting hoops, and being on the water in just about any watercraft. He played piano and violin and enjoyed a wide variety of music from classical to folk tunes to John Williams movie scores. He enjoyed delving into complicated math and science problems, origami, felting, and creating a wide variety of art. Liam had a purity and playfulness about him that everyone recognized.

A scholarship award will be up to $3,000.
